

Conflict Minerals Policy Statement

EMCORE Corporation is committed to complying with Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (“Act”) regarding the sourcing of conflict minerals. The United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) approved this provision of the Act on August 22, 2012. It requires publicly traded companies to disclose on SEC Form SD their use of conflict minerals that originated in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (“DRC”) or an adjoining country if those minerals are “necessary to the functionality or production of a product” manufactured or contracted to be manufactured by those companies. These conflict minerals include tantalum, tin, gold or tungsten. Through EMCORE’s due diligence process and those of its suppliers, EMCORE strives to accomplish the goal of conflict-free products. EMCORE does not purchase raw materials, supplies or components that it knows contain conflict minerals. EMCORE encourages our suppliers and their sub-suppliers to use Conflict-Free Smelter program certified (“CFS”) smelters wherever possible, to increase our level of confidence that EMCORE products are DRC Conflict Free.
